Abstract: Muhadharah activities that have existed and become part of beut in these three dayahs, enabled the birth of teungku dayah who were ready to appear in society as competent dā’is. In fact, not all teungku dayah are able to appear as dā’i figures that are referred to by society. This research is a qualitative descriptive study which obtained data by conducting interviews, observations and document review of social conditions at the study site. Furthermore, the data obtained were analyzed and came to a conclusion that the implementation of muhadharah on the salafi dayah in Bireuen Regency was generally carried out by following the old tradition and still accommodating and adopting the development and dynamics of today’s muhadharah, such as language, tools and material mastery. In order to realize the effectiveness of the implementation of muhadharah on the salafi dayah the ulama and the dayah leaders argued that the muhadharah should receive serious attention in the form of its vision and mission.

Keywords: Al-Quran; dayah; da’i; muhadharah.

I. Introduction

The muhadharah program conducted by dayah education institutions is intended to train students to be able to; (1) mastering Islamic religious knowledge sourced from the yellow books; (2) mastering the techniques or ways of giving speeches, lecturing; (3) have a calm and stable mental attitude in front of the public or the wider community. This is in line with the aim of dayah education to give birth to scholars who are ready to engage in society and can educate other scholars as the next generation. In this context the muhadharah program is a unique dayah educational institution compared to Higher Education, because the Higher Education does not implement the muhadharah program specifically. Higher Education applies services research to find various scientific discoveries and this does not exist in dayah education institutions.

Based on the results of preliminary observations, the authors intend to conduct research on the implementation of muhadharah in the salafi dayah in Bireuen Regency. Where from the process will be seen various problems, so that it can be found an effective step to prepare the cadre of dā’i which is very much needed by the people of today and those who will be deployed to the midst of society to deliver messages of Islamic teachings.

II. Review of Literature

2.1 Understanding Muhadharah in the Dayah Tradition

Muhadharah berasal dari kata dasar حاضر – يُحَاضِرُ yang berarti hadir. Muhadharah bermakna memberi ceramah atau kuliah. Dalam Kamus Al-Munjid diartikan muhadharah sebagai berikut:

DOI: https://doi.org/10.33258/birci.v2i4.576
Meaning: A discussion delivered by a preacher (preacher) at a place of human association.

Then the word muhaddarah becomes a term in dayah which is defined as the "lecture training" activity that emphasizes the students' skills in processing speech systems or everything related to the process.

Muhadharah, which is interpreted as a lecture exercise, is an obligation of dayah education institutions in preparing preacher cadres who are ready to engage in society to convey da’wah messages through lectures.

In muhaddarah training the students are required to read various books and books related to the material provided because mastery of the material is very important in lecturing. If someone who does not master the material, then his da’wah is ineffective and does not produce results as expected. Therefore, the mastery of material training program for students in muhaddarah is very important and must be fostered well. This application is done because it refers to the purpose of the muhaddarah itself.

The aim of Muhadharah is to realize professional dā’i among Dayah students and graduates who are ready to be deployed in the midst of society. In this case the Islamic boarding school in Aceh in particular had a special program on muhaddarah training. To achieve these objectives, in the muhaddara training there needs to be efforts or methods used in the training.

2.2 Definition of Da’wah

Etymologically, the word da’wah is derived from Arabic, namely masdar from the word ودعاً ودعوٍ ودعوَة ودعوَة. The word da’wah has several meanings including: first, al-nida means to invite; da’ā fulānun ilā fulānah, meaning someone invites the polan. Second; called on; ud’u ilā al-syai’i, which means to call and push for something. Third; al-da’wah ilã qad’iyat, meaning to affirm it or defend it, whether something is right or vanity, positive or negative. As an example calling for the vanity is the story of the Prophet Joseph in the letter Yusuf verse 33. In the story the Prophet Joseph said "O my Lord, the prison I prefer rather than fulfill their da’wah to me." The point is obedience to women who plunged into sin. Fourth; an effort in the form of words or deeds to attract people to a certain sect or religion. Fifth; begging and asking.

Some verses of the Qur’an that reveal the meaning of da’wah, as follows:

وَاللهُ يَذْعُىْا اِلًَ دَارِ السَّلاَمِ وَيَهْذِي هَيْ يَشَآءُ اِلًَ صِرَاطٍ هُسْتَقِيْنٍ

Meaning: Allah calls to the home of peace (i.e. Paradise, by accepting Allah’s religion of Islamic Monotheism and by doing righteous good deeds and abstaining from polytheism and evil deeds) and guides whom He wills to a Straight Path. (QS. Yunus : 25).
Meaning: “And invite your helpers besides Allah if you are among those who are righteous” (QS. Al-Baqarah: 23)

2.3 Mudharabah Position in Da’wah

Doing proselytizing or inviting people to do good things and forbid them from doing disobedience is the duty of the Muslims themselves. Thus da’wah Islamiyyah from time to time must continue, because conveying something related to Islam through da’wah is an appropriate way, not like accusations of non-Muslims to Islam, which Islam developed through the sword (war). Non-Muslim people also accused Islamic fighters that they were developing their da’wah in a cruel way. They used to say “The sword in the right hand and the Qur’an in the left hand.”

Yet when examined further, that Islam is a religion of da’wah both in theory and practice since the beginning of Islam. This can be exemplified in the life of the Prophet Muhammad as the bearer of teachings and also acted as the leader of Islamic proselytism for a long time. The Prophet Muhammad in that time period succeeded in attracting many Muslims from the kafirin without violence. The war that occurred in Islam was due to obstacles in the proselytizing or economic factors, security and so forth.

The lecture method as one of the ways in carrying out da’wah is the oldest method. This method is also called muhadharah and is included in the category of da’wah al-qauliyah (oral), i.e. the form of speech or oral that can be heard by da’wah partners (da’wah bi al-oral). This method is one of the means of da’wah in the category of means of delivering messages by speech and this is what Shaykh Said Ibn Salim meant by the rhetoric of da’wah.

The Muhadharah program is carried out as part of the routine of the dayah to created to dā’i-dā’i and muballigh who are able to appear in front of the ummah as carriers of enlightenment and religious guidance. This program is implemented by dayah institutions to practice the ability to speak to students who already have religious knowledge.

There are three main reasons that explain the urgency of muhadharah as a forum for fostering cadres da’wah, namely: effective, massive and strategic. The effective reason is the implementation of muhadhara followed by students who are generally teenagers / young. Young age is a golden period for learning, instilling knowledge and religious values. Called massive or mass is because the number of students of Islam populations scattered in dayah in all corners of Indonesia is very large and has been able to form a community. Thus if the implementation of muhadharah is carried out simultaneously, an organized form of da’wah will be formed and has a great and vital opportunity to improve the management of da’wah bi al-isan.

Called strategic because the output from Muhadharah has the capability to improve Human Resources (HR) in various layers of the people. Without this kind of upbringing which is done continuously, it is sure to be born of dā’i who do not have religious knowledge especially about Islamic shariah.

In this case, a preacher who plunges into society must possess the science of proselytizing so that the messages conveyed can influence his maha. Because psychology is a study of human behavior which is a symptom of his soul or some say that psychology is a study of human physical behavior using objective observational methods. Da’wah psychology is an auxiliary science for da’wah activities.

1 Depag RI, Al Qur’an dan..., p. 5.

DOI: https://doi.org/10.33258/birci.v2i4.576
The importance of a preacher mastering this knowledge because of seeing from the goal of proselytizing itself is to be able to influence the listener or to change the human behavior of humans who face to humans who are civilized (akhlaqul karimah). Unlike the case with Tabligh, the measure of success of a preacher is when he succeeds in conveying the message of Islam and his message to the destination. Meanwhile, how the community’s response is not their responsibility.

III. Research Method

In this study the writer directs the location of the research on objects that are considered representative in the Bireuen Regency. The criteria for the dayah considered to be representative are: (1) the age or duration of the dayah standing; (2) a large number of students; (3) has given birth to students becoming prominent scholars in Bireuen Regency; (4) The dayah graduates are official and receive recognition from a government equivalent to Madrasah Aliyah. Based on the above criteria, the location of this study was determined at the MUDI Dayah Mesjid Raya Samalanga

IV. Discussion

Muhadharah as a process carried out in preparing prospective dâ‘i who will enter the field (community), has philosophical value, as part of scientific studies. This becomes a push in actualizing a concept and has foundations, normative, sociological, and cultural. For this reason, MUDI Dayah Mesal Raya Samalanga, which already exists as an educational institution that has a very strong basis for the community, certainly must see and consider a program in the education process offered according to the needs of the local community, in this case Aceh. Muhadharah which has been institutionalized and integrated as part of a curriculum, does not necessarily exist and develop without an embryo which is the starting point in the form of ideas and ideas. This if developed and preached from people will bring up a new idea as a continuation of the previous embryo. The next stage is to be born formally and become a tradition that has been preserved for generations. For the initial idea of the emergence of muhadharah in MUDI Dayah Mesal Raya Samalanga was influenced by the background of formal education at that time, namely SMI (Islamic Middle School). In education at SMI there are extra-curricular activities, one of which is lecturing practice (muhadharah). Tgk Zakaria Puteh Kumba is one of the main originators of the idea to carry out systematic Muhammadiyah training as a program that has prospects going forward. The first step taken is to inform the ideas or ideas of senior students so they can get active support to realize the program. Tgk Muhammad Alwi as a senior who was intended in 1965 AD welcomed the idea and formed the board as an organization that has a line of coordination and structural consultation.

Based on the results of interviews with the chairperson of the Public Relations that the aim of the muhadharah is to give birth to prospective dâ‘i who have the ability and are ready to appear in the midst of society. This goal is more concrete so that students have the ability to rhetoric that is reliable, has insight on a global scale, and is able to use modern media.
The results of the interview with Deputy I (Deputy Management) explained that the management of Muhadharah was carried out in an integrated manner which was coordinated by one of the bodies or fields of work under the dayah organizational structure, namely the Public Relations Section. This section is in charge of work related to public relations and establishing relationships that are external in nature. The Muhadharah program becomes one of its fields of work with the consideration that the dā‘i-dā‘i which appear in this program will later face the community at large, facilitated by this public relations section.

As the smallest unit of muhadharah management and under the responsibility of the Public Relations section is the Kabillah. In the context of salafi dayah education the kabila are interpreted as student of Islam units from one or more sub districts that are under the auspices of the organization. In this case they use the bale kabilah as the secretariat and as the center for the implementation of tribal activities.

This tribal system began to be used initially for activities carried out by several districts as one tribe in the context of the training in the dalāl al-khairāt. This took place from the establishment of the MUDI dayah Mesjid Raya until the early sixties. At that time, there were only three tribes that covered students from several districts in Aceh and outside Aceh. In 1965 the tribal activities were not only for the training of dalail al-khairat, but further in other activities such as muhadharah, meetings and farewells of student of Islam and their guardians.

At present (in 2011) the whole consists of 22 tribes within the MUDI Dayah Mesjid Raya Samalanga. This Kabilah is a unit of student of Islam groups formed based on senior santri deliberations and junior student of Islam in one or more sub districts, and builds a balee of kabilah as a container that will carry out various tribal activities. Each of these tribes is a muhadharah program carried out continuously and becomes an inseparable part of the other activities in the dayah curriculum.

From the results of observations made on the evening Friday muhadharah after the evening prayer, while previously held the dalāīl al-khairāt. Muhadharah activities are centered on each tribe. According to Waliyunis, since the beginning of muhadhara there was no change in the time of its implementation, namely Friday night after the evening prayer. This has become a decision that cannot be contested by anyone and is an official dayah tradition.

According to Tgk. Ahmadi, one of the students in class 2 ‘aliyah, the task of the IKAPATI kabilah to prepare muhadharah material which was charged to him on the topic of bir al-walidain, had to work on his own, if necessary ask for help from classmates. The required materials are obtained in the book Jawoe Moral Studies by Adnan Yahya, also from other books.

For novice students, who are not yet accustomed to muhadharahs like this, are guided continuously by the re-gure (teungku rangkang). With this guidance the santri can understand his responsibilities as a dā’i candidate in accordance with the specified theme. The next stage of the mentor as a remedial by determining a simpler topic and asking to speak directly (alone) in front of him. With this simple topic and self-lecturing, without other mustami’in (listeners) will be very helpful in delivering fluent lecture content, without the burden of psychology that is meaningful. For the next step is to repeat such things in place, so smoothly. With this capital is very helpful, even increasing the psychological element for the appearance on the specified night.

From the results of interviews with a number of tribal leaders, some mentioned that for new student of Islam there was no emphasis on conveying muhadharah directly without text, but it was permissible to read the prepared text. This is only given relief for several appearances (three times). Henceforth it is not permitted to read texts, student of Islam are required to muhadharah verbally even if they are limping.

As for students who do not dare to appear to speak at all, they are assigned as protocols or as entertainers by bringing Islamic qasidahs.

From interviews with a number of students from the Thalibul Bilad tribe, the text of the muhadharah, especially in Indonesian, is memorized and repeated by the student of islam so that when the muhadharah has mastered the specified title. Some students even use their spare time and stand in the corner of the terrace room to practice muhadharah themselves by memorizing and repeating the material of the muhadharah until they are proficient.

From the results of interviews with the manager of the Muhammadiyah and strengthened by the student of islam, no attempt was made by the management of the tribe to see the extent to which the material had been prepared for the muhadhara on the specified night, whether in accordance with the title or not.

From the results of interviews with expert staff of Public Relations explained that for now the management of the tribe has not made efforts related to understanding the concept of muhadharah in general, both from the administrators themselves, by presenting competent speakers, as well as presenting an established and capable preacher. in the midst of society.

Only a small number of students took their own initiative to look for material on the da’wah and muhadharah theories from existing books. This was especially done by students who were also students of STAI Al Aziziyah, especially Islamic communication and broadcasting study programs.

From the observation it was found that in general the students were able to use the national language as the language of instruction, only a few were still using the local language (Aceh). Some student of Islam have even been able to use foreign languages (Arabic and English), but in relatively small amounts.

From the observations it was found that in the implementation of the muhadharah there was no team prepared to judge the students’ appearance in general, so further guidance was sought in written or unwritten form. Senior student of Islam who act as closing muhadharah only deliver muhadharah material in accordance with the specified title.

Observation results show that the time given to deliver muhadharah material in general is in accordance with what is set, which is 10-15 minutes for beginners and 15-20 for senior students. If at any time the length of time determined by the management of the tribe gives a direct verbal warning, so that the muhadharah will continue to run within the stipulated time.\(^{16}\)

From the results of interviews with a number of tribal leaders, it was stated that the title of muhadharah was assigned alternately from one theme to the next, then sub themes to other sub themes. This is done so that there is even distribution of themes and sub themes for student of Islam in the implementation of the muhadharah.\(^{17}\)

The results of interviews with several teungku dayah people explained that in order to see the development of the muhadharah program the management of the muhadharah conducts periodic supervision that refers to the general program of the muhadharah field. At the end of the year conduct a comprehensive evaluation by looking at the strengths and weaknesses of the existing training program and is reported verbally. This is a feedback as a reference for the Muhammed program next year.18

4.2 Teungku Dayah's Opinion on the Effectiveness of Muhadharah Implementation

From the results of an interview with Abu MUDI, he believes that the Muhammed training program must be continued with changes in terms of the material and language used. Because the Muhamad training program is very helpful in teaching and learning programs. Therefore according to him muhadharah is part of beut (chanting), in the sense of the delivery of knowledge to the community, without the ability of rhetoric, it is not possible.19

Muhadharah program is a part of beut (reciting), so it is not necessary not to have to walk independently in one curriculum program. Thus it should not only focus on one area and deny the others.

From the results of interviews with the head of MUDI Dayah Public Relations Mesjid Raya Samalanga, stated that Muhadharah should be followed by following the old pattern in terms of time with the consideration that it would not affect the beut schedule. With muhadharah can educate and train students to be prepared mentally when dealing with forums. Strong mentality is needed in lectures. Without mentality, they will be rigid in their delivery. They will not be able to deal with so many listeners.20

From the results of an interview with the manager of MUDI Dayah MUDI Mesjid Raya Samalanga stated that the muhadharah program should not be abolished because it is a requirement of shari'ah and the community. To answer this there must be a better oversight effort from the coordinator of the muhadhara and the head of the kabilah regarding all aspects of the implementation of muhadhara, so that it can run well.21

From interviews with MUDI Wadir I Dayah Mesjid Raya Samalanga said that Muhadharah continues but must be adapted to the development of the times because with muhadharah that has been institutionalized can foster the ability of students in the mastery of religious materials openly without using the text of books or other writings. Thus dayah graduates can later appear in communities from different educational backgrounds even in societies that are of different sects and religions.\textsuperscript{22}

4.3 Key elements of an effective \textit{muhadharah} model that can train professional cadre cadets

From interviews with a number of teungku \textit{dayah} people, it was stated that in the implementation of the \textit{muhadharah} there had been no special mudabbir (trainers) who guided the student of Islam in Muhamad. To make effective the \textit{muhadharah} needed mudabbir (trainers) who have been able to provide both knowledge and skills in the training to the students.\textsuperscript{23}

From the results of interviews with the education staff expert staff explained that to include all students in \textit{muhadharah} there is no preliminary selection, so that it illustrates the capabilities that are already possessed, along with his mentality. According to him, for this reason it is necessary to have an initial selection in the recruitment of members of the \textit{muhadharah} and place it according to existing capabilities. For students who already have basic abilities and are supported by outstanding talents, there must be a special coaching effort both in the core groups between tribes or other forms.\textsuperscript{24}

Based on the results of interviews with Deputy II \textit{Dayah} MUDI explained that the material \textit{muhadharah} has been referring to themes and sub themes that have been determined without being supported by what reading material should be used and considered appropriate in the \textit{dayah} environment. This must have a concrete reference in accordance with the material contained in the \textit{beut} study books. In addition it must also be added to the material that is the talk and issues of the general public.\textsuperscript{25}

Based on field observations, it can be seen that the \textit{muhadharah} field under the Public Relations section has more or less assisted students in finding lecture material in accordance with predetermined titles by providing material in the form of texts (Al-Qur’an and Hadith) which refers to certain themes. This is written or posted on a board which is displayed at designated places, which are often seen by students when passing through it, such as at the back of the dormitory towards the place of \textit{wuzuk}. In \textit{muhadharah} training facilities and tools as technological materials have more or less been used, especially audio facilities such as sound systems, but not all tribes. But other information technology media are still lacking.\textsuperscript{26}

The results of interviews with the manager of the \textit{muhadharah} stated that all this time the \textit{Mustami’in} (\textit{Muhadharah} listeners) had only been passive in attending the \textit{Muhadharah} without any effort to take notes and other activities that were considered important. He hoped that this condition would have to change where the student of Islam as listeners of the Muhammadiyah had to be pro-active to record the important points delivered by the participants, as well as the well-regarded movements that were carried out in delivering the material.\textsuperscript{27}

The results of the interview with the head of the PR said that so far there had not been a team tasked with periodically evaluating the appearance of \textit{Muhadharah} participants. According to him, actually this is really needed, so with this assessment, either monthly or bi-monthly will be able to see the development of the ability of participants from an appearance and subsequent performances. In addition, additional guidance efforts can also be made for those who have not improved their appearance.\textsuperscript{28}

\textbf{4.4 Support needed for effective \textit{muhadharah} implementation}

The results of interviews with a number of tribal leaders stated that \textit{muhadharah} materials related to themes and sub themes had not been prepared and prepared in the form of a syllabus that could be used as a guide in \textit{muhadharah}. They hope that this needs to be arranged and carried out so that improvements from time to time are in accordance with the development of the period, so that the syllabus becomes a reference used in the implementation of \textit{muhadharah}.\textsuperscript{29}

The results of the interview with Deputy II explained that the languages used so far have the majority of regional languages and Indonesian languages; very few use foreign languages (Arabic and English). This condition needs to be done to strengthen the language associated with certain materials from \textit{Muhadharah}, so that it will become a tradition that is gradually followed and emphasized to other students. For this reason, there is a need for language teachers who are ready to guide students to use the right and correct language. \textit{Dayah} MUDI Mesjid Raya Samalanga so far there has not been a language teacher who teaches students who take training \textit{muhadharah}.\textsuperscript{30}

The results of interviews with a number of tribal leaders stated that in the implementation of \textit{muhadharah} there were no skilled trainers who were able to guide and direct students to conduct \textit{muhadharah} effectively. They acknowledged that this was very necessary to support the \textit{muhadharah} program so that in every performance they could be guided directly and it was hoped that \textit{Muhadharah} went well.\textsuperscript{31}

To support the smooth running of the \textit{muhadharah} program, it is facilitated by adequate facilities and infrastructure. In addition to the \textit{balee kabilah} as the main requirements in this activity, also must have other tools, such as the pulpit, microphones and \textit{muhadharah} training administration notebooks. These facilities are considered very important because without sufficient facilities, in accordance with the context of the community in general, the \textit{Muhadharah} that does not work effectively. Thus the facility is the main instrument in \textit{Muhadharah} training activities in addition to other supporters.

The results of an interview with the head of the education department stated that the MUDI \textit{Dayah} Mesjid Raya Samalanga already had a library that was deemed appropriate,\textsuperscript{27}

V. Conclusion

The opinion of the leaders of the dayah and the teugku-teungku dayah about the muhadharah program was three percent, (1) the muhadharah program must be improved from before by adopting materials that were in accordance with the needs of the community; (2) the muhadharah program must be continued, but by following the old pattern, i.e. there is no material mastery training and no effort to broaden students’ insights; (3) muhadharah program continues to follow the times both from the training, material, language, and media or facilities used in the implementation of the training.
